POLICY ANALYSIS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The Education Committee of the Legislature has a joint responsibility of protecting students and teachers, and it doesn't take that role lightly. Ensuring that Nebraska's students are educated by qualified, law-abiding teachers of good moral character is of the utmost concern while, at the same time, ensuring that certification requirements are enacted in a way to increase opportunities for teachers across the state. Simultaneous to these considerations is ensuring that all school districts in Nebraska are able to hire the faculty necessary to provide robust education opportunities for its students to best prepare them for postsecondary education and/or to enter Nebraska's workforce, ideally, in those career fields where the state is experiencing a workforce shortage.

Although the Committee is interested in hearing other proposals that may be introduced, with its multifaceted responsibilities in mind, for the subsequently discussed reasons, and based on the data presented in this report, the Education Committee recommends that the State Board of Education make the changes herein to its rules and regulations.

Absent action by the State Board, or as alternative measure, the Committee recommends the Legislature enact legislation to accomplish these objectives.

Career Education Teaching Permits

Because the Career Education Teaching Permit application includes processes to ensure student safety in the same manner that all other educator certification applications do, the Committee recommends keeping the current aspects of both the initial and renewal application.

To expand workforce opportunities for future educators and increase the potential applicant pool for school districts, the Committee recommends eliminating the requirement for school district verification on an initial or renewal application, as well as allowing a permitted educator to teach in any school district in the state. These changes would also allow greater flexibility to career education teachers, which has a direct benefit to students and districts across Nebraska. This change is consistent with licensing trends across the country; only eight other states have employment verification as part of the career education licensing process.

The Committee further recommends changing the permit duration from three to five years, to match Standard Teaching Certificates and to make the frequency of renewals less onerous.

Finally, to ensure that students across the state are educated by qualified industry professionals, and to assist in addressing Nebraska's workforce shortage areas, the Committee recommends keeping the regulations in place regarding the areas of endorsement and the related qualification criterion.

Postsecondary Teaching Permits

Because all dual-credit educators must already meet the qualified faculty requirements set forth by the Higher Learning Commission, the Committee recommends eliminating the Postsecondary Teaching Permit altogether and replacing it with a requirement for a written agreement between the partnership school district and the postsecondary institution offering course(s). The agreement shall include, but not be limited to, a requirement that all dual-credit faculty have a background check and delineate which party shall be responsible for its completion.

The Committee expects that each dual-credit educator's hiring institution, whether secondary or postsecondary, have employment policies requiring that its dual-credit educators shall not have any felony conviction; shall not have any misdemeanor conviction involving abuse, neglect, or sexual misconduct; be of good moral character; and not have an emotional or mental incapacity to practice the profession. These requirements preserve the safety and protection of students that exist in the current Postsecondary Teaching Permit.

The recommendation to eliminate the permit will expand opportunities and ease regulatory challenges for faculty at Nebraska's postsecondary institutions making dual-credit courses more readily available to school districts and students across the state. It is consistent with policies across the country, where Nebraska is one of only two states with a state licensure requirement for postsecondary faculty members teaching dual-credit courses.

CHAPTER I: RESPONSIBILITY FOR EDUCATION

CERTIFICATES AND PERMITS

The Legislature has delineated the responsibilities for educational certificates and permits across three entities. The Commissioner of Education (“Commissioner”) is responsible for issuing, reissuing, and denying certificates and permits,¹ as well as filing petitions, when applicable, with the Nebraska Professional Practices Commission (“PPC”) for sanctions of certificate or permit holders.² The responsibilities of the Commissioner may be carried out by the Nebraska Department of Education (“NDE”) staff.

The State Board of Education (“Board”) has the authority to adopt and promulgate rules and regulations related to the issuance, renewal, denial, revocation, and suspension of the certificates and permits.³ The Board has the authority to also issue temporary permits, valid for up to two years, to any applicant for certification who has not completed the requisite human relations training.⁴ Similarly, the Commissioner has the authority to issue conditional permits, valid for up to one year, while an applicant is waiting for criminal history record information checks if other requirements outlined in statute are satisfied.⁵

In addition to certificates, which authorize a qualified individual to engage in teaching, administration, or providing special services,⁶ the Board has created permits that provide restricted authorization to an individual who does not yet meet the qualifications for a regular certificate to engage in teaching, administration, or providing of special services.⁷ This report, in accordance with the requirements set forth in the Occupational Board Reform Act,⁸ is examining two of the six such teaching permits: the Career Education Teaching Permit and the Postsecondary Teaching Permit.

The PPC has the authority to adopt and promulgate rules and regulations related to the private admonishments and public reprimands of certificate or permit holders, as well as the hearing process for petitions filed by the Commissioner and the reinstatement process for certificates and permits.⁹

Procedurally, the Board requests the PPC conduct hearings on petitions filed by the Commissioner, and, when deemed necessary, the PPC makes recommendations to the Board regarding appropriate action to be taken. Private admonishments and public reprimands are handled exclusively by the PPC, while recommendations for suspension or revocation are given to the Board to take action upon.¹⁰ The Board is granted the sole authority to revoke, suspend or reinstate a license or permit.¹¹

CHAPTER II: ENTITY INFORMATION

State Board of Education

The State Board of Education, created by Nebraska Constitution, consists of eight members elected on a nonpartisan ballot representing districts of substantially equal population as provided by the Legislature.¹² Board members are required to be United States citizens and Nebraska residents in the district from which he or she is elected for at least six months immediately prior to his or her election.¹³ Furthermore, board members shall not be actively engaged in the teaching profession nor shall they be currently holding any state office.¹⁴ Finally, board members shall not be the member of any state board or commission unless the entity is limited to an advisory capacity.¹⁵

The Board is required to meet regularly and periodically at least four times per year.¹⁶ In 2020, the Board met 11 times, which included 10 regularly scheduled meetings and one special meeting.¹⁷ The November 2020 meeting was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.¹⁸

The annual budget for the Board for the past five years is as follows:¹⁹

Fiscal Year	Annual Budget Amount
2015-16	$85,099
2016-17	$85,099
2017-18	$85,099
2018-19	$85,099
2019-20	$85,099

Commissioner of Education and Nebraska Department of Education

The position of Commissioner and the Nebraska State Department of Education were also both created by the Nebraska Constitution with the Commissioner being hired by the Board.²⁰

The Commissioner, or a designated representative, is required to attend all Board meetings except when the Board is selecting a Commissioner.²¹ Commissioner Matt Blomstedt was present at all but the August 2020 meeting.²² Deputy Commissioner Deborah Frison was designated by the Commissioner to serve as his representative for that meeting.²³

The Educator Certification division of NDE is self-funded by fees deposited in the Certification Fund.²⁴ The annual budget for the division, which accounts for all certification activities, for the past five years is as follows:²⁵

Fiscal Year	Annual Budget Amount
2015-16	$561,263
2016-17	$591,651
2017-18	$619,038
2018-19	$603,883
2019-20	$589,635

Nebraska Professional Practices Commission

The Professional Practices Commission was legislatively created and consists of 12 members appointed by the Governor and shall be representative of elementary classroom teachers, secondary classroom teachers, school administrators, and postsecondary education.²⁶

Meetings are held when called by the chairperson and are not required to be held in any specific frequency.²⁷ The PPC typically meets four times per year and did so in 2020.²⁸

The PPC is completely cash funded from the Professional Practices Commission Fund,²⁹ which receives $13.00 from each fee paid for the issuance of a certificate or permit.³⁰ The annual budget for the PPC for the past five years is as follows:

Fiscal Year	Annual Budget Amount
2015-16 ³¹	$136,955
2016-17 ³²	$138,166
2017-18 ³³	$137,561
2018-19 ³⁴	$138,224
2019-20 ³⁵	$140,486

CHAPTER III: CAREER EDUCATION TEACHING PERMITS

The Career Education Teaching Permit, created in 1977 and most recently modified in 2015, is for applicants who do not meet the requirements for a regular teaching certificate, but want to teach career education course(s).³⁶ This permit replaces several of its predecessors, including the Provisional Trades Certificate, the Trades Teaching Certificate, and the Career Education Teaching Certificate.³⁷

The Board has adopted specific rules for this permit in Nebraska Administrative Code Title 92 Chapter 21 § 005.15 through 005.17.³⁸ Current areas of endorsement for Career Education Teaching Permits are:³⁹

1. Agriculture, Food & Natural Resources
2. Architecture and Construction
3. Arts, A/V Technology and Communications
4. Business Management and Administration
5. Education and Training
6. Energy and Engineering
7. Finance
8. Government and Public Administration
9. Health Sciences
10. Hospitality and Tourism
11. Human Services
12. Information Technology
13. Law, Public Safety and Security
14. Manufacture
15. Marketing
16. Transportation, Distribution and Logistics

An applicant qualifies for a career education endorsement by completing a prescribed course of study in the area at the postsecondary level, completing an apprenticeship in the area, or demonstrating proficiency in the area either based on five or more years of practice in the career or by passing a competency test approved by the industry or career area.⁴⁰

In addition to the human relations training and a background check, which are required for all education certificates or permits, the Career Education Teaching Permit application requires a written request for issuance from the Superintendent or governing body which identifies the career education course to be taught by the applicant. Once issued, a Career Education Teaching Permit is valid for three years, only in the endorsed career area, only in the school system(s) identified on the permit, and only for regular teaching in grades nine through twelve.⁴¹ Renewals require school system verification that the applicant has taught in their Nebraska school system within the last five years.⁴²

For the five most recent certification years (September 16, 2015 to August 31, 2020), 106 have been issued and none have been denied. There have been no revocations nor any penalties assessed against permit holders.⁴³

CHAPTER IV: POSTSECONDARY TEACHING PERMITS

The Postsecondary Teaching Permit, created in 2010 and most recently modified in 2015, is for applicants who do not meet the requirements for a regular teaching certificate, but want to teach dual-credit course (where a student earns both high school and college credit) in the applicant's postsecondary subject area.⁴⁴ The Board has adopted specific rules for this permit in Nebraska Administrative Code Title 92 Chapter 21 § 005.18 through 005.20.⁴⁵

This permit had a somewhat similar predecessor, the Dual Credit Teaching Certificate.⁴⁶ A key difference; however, between the two is that the Dual Credit Teaching Certificate was used for certificated teachers who wanted to teach a college class, whereas the Postsecondary Teaching Permit is for those who may not qualify for a teaching certificate but want to teach a dual-credit high school class.⁴⁷ Nebraska Administrative Code Title 92 Chapter 21 no longer authorizes a Dual Credit Teaching Certificate, and there are no educators currently holding this certificate.⁴⁸

In addition to the human relations training and a background check, which are required for all education certificates or permits, the Postsecondary Teaching Permit requires an applicant be employed by a Nebraska postsecondary educational entity and be approved by a local school board to teach high school student courses.⁴⁹ Once issued, a Postsecondary Teaching Permit is valid for three years and only for teaching dual-credit courses to high school students.⁵⁰ Renewals require postsecondary employment verification, as well as verification that the applicant has either taught a dual-credit course for Nebraska high school students in two semesters/quarters within the last three years or official transcripts demonstrating three semester hours of graduate credit earned in education-related coursework in the prior three years.⁵¹

It is important to note that, while not part of the permitting process, Postsecondary Teaching Permit holders are also required to meet the qualified faculty requirements set forth by the Higher Learning Commission (HLC).⁵² The postsecondary institution awarding the course credit is responsible for determining the qualifications of its faculty. Anecdotally, most questions and complaints received in the Education Committee office by school districts regarding a need for changes to dual-credit teaching requirements are related to the HLC requirements for qualified faculty, which are beyond the scope of this report and beyond the authority of this Committee, the Legislature or the Board. Meanwhile, all of the community college presidents report no complaints with the permitting or licensing process (the majority, but not all, of dual-credit courses in Nebraska come through the community colleges).⁵³

For the five most recent certification years (September 16, 2015 to August 31, 2020), 440 have been issued and none have been denied. There have been no revocations nor any penalties assessed against permit holders.⁵⁴

CHAPTER V: COMPARISON OF OTHER STATES

Career Education Teaching Permits

Nebraska’s Career Education Teaching Permits are designed to increase Career and Technical Education (CTE) teachers in the state. This is a continual conversation on the national level, as well.

In April 2020, the Education Commission of the States (ECS) released a report on the topic along with a 50-State Comparison on certification and license requirements for teachers.⁵⁵ In a blog article accompanying the report’s release, authors Tom Keily and Zeke Perez, Jr. opined that, “As states continue to enact policy that expands CTE, ensuring there are paths for trained and qualified individuals to support student learning is an important consideration.”⁵⁶ They summarized the report findings, stating that:

At face value, CTE teacher licensure and certification is similar across states, at least in terms of the requirement areas broadly. However, what it takes to become a CTE teacher in one state may be vastly different than what it takes in another. Some require more hours of work experience, while others focus more on educational background. Further, requirements can vary within a state depending on the CTE area that an individual seeks to work in or on their experience.⁵⁷

A closer look at the 50-State Comparison reveals that 14 states do not have formal licensure requirements for CTE instructors, while on the opposite end of the spectrum six states require, either initially or eventually, the same level of educator certification requirement for CTE instructors as all other teachers.⁵⁸ Of the remaining 30 states, six vary the certificate or licensure requirements based on the CTE subject area, five offer several options for obtaining a certification or license, and 19, including Nebraska, have an alternative certification option for CTE educators.⁵⁹

Of the 19 with alternative certifications, only seven other states require a local superintendent, school system or school board to provide employment verification as part of the application process.⁶⁰ Two of the states that offer multiple options for certification have a similar requirement.⁶¹

In addition to looking at CTE teacher licensure and certification requirements, the 50-State Comparison analyzed the factors in an applicant’s background that would qualify them to teach. A summary of this analysis reveals:⁶²

	Education	Work experience	Certifications	Assessments
Nebraska accepts	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
States with alternative certifications (inc. Nebraska)	69%	69%	38%	19%
States with several options	100%	100%	40%	20%
States where formal license or certification not required	71%	100%	57%	21%

The categories in the report, and summarized in the table, utilized the following definitions:⁶³

- Education, including high school diplomas or an equivalent, postsecondary degrees and completion of postsecondary coursework.

- Work experience, including specified hours or years of work or apprenticeship experience in the occupational area.
- Certification, including industry-recognized licenses.
- Assessments, including completion of testing in CTE subject matter, content area expertise or other relevant knowledge.

A state may allow any of the categories to demonstrate proficiency to meet the requirement, an approach that Nebraska utilizes, or it may require a combination of the various factors.⁶⁴

Postsecondary Teaching Permits

Nebraska’s Postsecondary Teaching Permits are designed to allow faculty members of postsecondary institutions to teach dual-credit courses to high school students. This, too, continues to be a conversation at the national level.

In April 2019, ECS released a report on the topic along with a 50-state Comparison on the instructor qualifications for dual and concurrent enrollment courses.⁶⁵ Its comparison shows that all but two states, Nevada and New York, have instructor qualification requirements in policy. In practice in Nevada; however, “postsecondary faculty primarily teach dual enrollment courses.”⁶⁶

The remaining 48 states have, at a minimum, requirements that the instructor be qualified to teach at the postsecondary level.⁶⁷ According to ECS, this “ensures a collegiate level of instruction is provided to students.”⁶⁸ For the 19 states in the North Central region, including Nebraska, the accrediting body is the HLC.⁶⁹ As indicated in the previous chapter, it has set forth qualified faculty requirements.⁷⁰

Having the instructor qualifications handled at the postsecondary level is also consistent with the National Concurrent Enrollment Partnership (NACEP) standards, which “serve as model standards that have been adapted or incorporated into state policy in 20 states and recognized by multiple disciplinary professional associations and regional institutional accreditors.”⁷¹ The standards require:⁷²

- All concurrent enrollment instructors are approved by the appropriate college/university academic leadership and must meet the minimum qualifications for instructors teaching the course on campus.
- Faculty liaisons at the college/university provide all new concurrent enrollment instructors with course-specific training in course philosophy, curriculum, pedagogy, and assessment prior to the instructor teaching the course.
- Concurrent enrollment instructors participate in college/university provided annual discipline-specific professional development and ongoing collegial interaction to further enhance instructors’ pedagogy and breadth of knowledge in the discipline.
- The concurrent enrollment program ensures instructors are informed of and adhere to program policies and procedures.

While Nebraska has not used these standards in its statewide policymaking, three community colleges, two universities, and one high school in the state are members of the NACEP.⁷³

Only Montana and Nebraska have an additional state licensure requirements for postsecondary faculty teaching dual-credit courses.⁷⁴ Similar to Nebraska’s Postsecondary Teaching Permit, faculty members at postsecondary institutions in Montana that are not eligible for traditional licensure are required to hold a Class 8 Dual Credit License.⁷⁵ This license requires employment verification from the postsecondary institution, but does not require approval by the secondary school district.⁷⁶

Two states, Colorado and Idaho, actually specify in state statute that postsecondary instructors teaching dual-credit courses do not need to be licensed.⁷⁷

Nebraska’s Postsecondary Teaching Permit requirement for applicant approval by a local school board to teach high school student courses is also fairly unique. While some states, like Alabama, Alaska, and Arizona, require agreements between the two educational institutions awarding dual-credit that must include, among other things, a specification of faculty qualifications, only Tennessee has a similar requirement to that in Nebraska.⁷⁸ ECS reports that Tennessee requires “college-level courses offered at the high school during the regular school day must be taught by licensed teachers or credentialed postsecondary faculty members approved by the local school system and the postsecondary institution.”⁷⁹

A few other states have other noteworthy requirements. For example, Oregon has a certification process, done by the postsecondary institution, for high school instructors, and Tennessee requires the postsecondary faculty to participate in State Department of Education training.⁸⁰

Standards and procedures for approval and accreditation shall be based upon the program of studies, guidance services, the number and preparation of teachers in relation to the curriculum and enrollment, instructional materials and equipment, science facilities and equipment, library facilities and materials, and health and safety factors in buildings and grounds. Rules and regulations which govern standards and procedures for private, denominational, and parochial schools which elect, pursuant to the procedures prescribed in subsections (2) through (6) of section 79-1601, not to meet state accreditation or approval requirements shall be as described in such section;

(13) Accept, on behalf of the Nebraska Center for the Education of Children who are Blind or Visually Impaired, devises of real property or donations or bequests of other property, or both, if in its judgment any such devise, donation, or bequest is for the best interest of the center or the students receiving services from the center, or both, and irrigate or otherwise improve any such real estate when in the board's judgment it would be advisable to do so; and

(14) Upon acceptance of any devise, donation, or bequest as provided in this section, administer and carry out such devise, donation, or bequest in accordance with the terms and conditions thereof. None of the duties prescribed in this section shall prevent the board from exercising such other duties as in its judgment may be necessary for the proper and legal exercise of its obligations.

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 79-808. Teachers and administrators; certificates and permits; requirements; board; duties; advisory committees; expenses.⁸⁷

(1) The board shall establish, adopt, and promulgate appropriate rules, regulations, and procedures governing the issuance, renewal, conversion, suspension, and revocation of certificates and permits to teach, provide special services, and administer based upon

(b) earned college credit, or its equivalent in professional education, for particular teaching, special services, or administrative assignments,

(c) criminal history record information if the applicant has not been a continuous Nebraska resident for five years immediately preceding application for the first issuance of a certificate,

(d) human relations training,

(e) successful teaching, administration, or provision of special services, and

(f) moral, mental, and physical fitness for teaching, all in accordance with sound educational practices. Such rules, regulations, and procedures shall also provide for endorsement requirements to indicate areas of specialization on such certificates and permits.

(2) The board may issue a temporary certificate, valid for a period not to exceed two years, to any applicant for certification who has not completed the human relations training requirement.

(3) Members of any advisory committee established by the board to assist the board in teacher education and certification matters shall be reimbursed for their actual and necessary expenses as provided in sections 81-1174 to 81-1177. Each school district which has an employee who serves as a member of such committee and which is required to hire a person to replace such member during the member's attendance at meetings or activities of the committee or any subcommittee thereof shall be reimbursed from the Certification Fund for the expense it incurs from hiring a replacement. School districts may excuse employees who serve on such advisory committees from certain duties which conflict with any advisory committee duties.

Each school district which employs a member of the commission and which is required to employ a person to replace such member during his or her attendance at meetings of the commission or any panel, committee, or subcommittee of the commission shall be reimbursed from the Professional Practices Commission Fund for the expense the district incurs from employing a replacement.

(2) The board may, for just cause, revoke or suspend any teacher's or administrator's certificate.

Violation of the standards established pursuant to this section, commission of an immoral act, or conviction of a felony under the laws of this state shall constitute just cause for the revocation or suspension of a teacher's or administrator's certificate by the board. The revocation or suspension of a certificate shall terminate the employment of such teacher or administrator. The board shall immediately notify the secretary or the school board or board of education of the school district where such teacher or administrator is employed of such revocation or suspension, shall notify the teacher or administrator of such revocation or suspension, and shall record the action in the matter in the books or records of the State Board of Education.

A person whose teacher's or administrator's certificate has been revoked may apply for a new certificate at the expiration of any period of ineligibility fixed by the board by applying for and by meeting the certification requirements at the time of application for the new certificate.

Any public reprimand by the commission shall be reported to the State Department of Education. Any recommendation for the revocation or suspension of a public school certificate by the commission shall be reported to the board.

The commissioner may employ persons to investigate and prosecute cases of alleged violations of standards of professional ethics and practices before the commission or before the board and its hearing officers. The commissioner shall cause to be investigated expeditiously any complaint which is filed with him or her or which is otherwise called to his or her attention and which if legally sufficient constitutes grounds for the revocation or suspension of a certificate or any other appropriate penalty set forth in section 79-866 or in the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to such section. If following an investigation the commissioner determines that legally sufficient grounds exist for revocation or suspension of a certificate or for any other appropriate penalty set forth in such section or rules and regulations, the commissioner may, in his or her discretion, file a petition with the commission for adjudication of the matter or may reach an agreement for the appropriate sanction as allowed by the rules and regulations.

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 79-869. Commission and board; rules and regulations.⁹⁵

(1) Beginning in 2019, each standing committee of the Legislature shall annually review and analyze approximately twenty percent of the occupational regulations within the jurisdiction of the committee and prepare and submit an annual report electronically to the Clerk of the Legislature by December 15 of each year as provided in this section. Each committee shall complete this process for all occupational regulations within its jurisdiction within five years and every five years thereafter. Each report shall include the committee's recommendations regarding whether the occupational regulations should be terminated, continued, or modified.

(2) Each committee may require the submission of information by the affected occupational board and other affected or interested parties.

(3) A committee's report shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(a) The title of the regulated occupation and the name of the occupational board responsible for enforcement of the occupational regulations;

(b) The statutory citation or other authorization for the creation of the occupational regulations and occupational board;

(c) The number of members of the occupational board and how the members are appointed;

(d) The qualifications for membership on the occupational board;

(e) The number of times the occupational board is required to meet during the year and the number of times it actually met;

(f) Annual budget information for the occupational board for the five most recently completed fiscal years;

(g) For the immediately preceding five calendar years, or for the period of time less than five years for which the information is practically available, the number of government certifications, occupational licenses, and registrations the occupational board has issued, revoked, denied, or assessed penalties against, listed anonymously and separately per type of credential, and the reasons for such revocations, denials, and other penalties;

(h) A review of the basic assumptions underlying the creation of the occupational regulations;

(i) A statement from the occupational board on the effectiveness of the occupational regulations; and

(j) A comparison of whether and how other states regulate the occupation.

(4) Subject to subsection (5) of this section, each committee shall also analyze, and include in its report, whether the occupational regulations meet the policies stated in section 84-946 considering the following recommended courses of action for meeting such policies:

(a) If the need is to protect consumers against fraud, the likely recommendation will be to strengthen powers under the Uniform Deceptive Trade Practices Act or require disclosures that will reduce misleading attributes of the specific goods or services;

(b) If the need is to protect consumers against unclean facilities or to promote general health and safety, the likely recommendation will be to require periodic inspections of such facilities;

(c) If the need is to protect consumers against potential damages from failure by providers to complete a contract fully or up to standards, the likely recommendation will be to require that providers be bonded;

(d) If the need is to protect a person who is not party to a contract between the provider and consumer, the likely recommendation will be to require that the provider have insurance;

(e) If the need is to protect consumers against potential damages by transient providers, the likely recommendation will be to require that providers register their businesses with the Secretary of State;

(f) If the need is to protect consumers against a shortfall or imbalance of knowledge about the goods or services relative to the providers' knowledge, the likely recommendation will be to enact government certification; and

(g) If the need is to address a systematic information shortfall such that a reasonable consumer is unable to distinguish between the quality of providers, there is an absence of institutions that provide adequate guidance to the consumer, and the consumer's inability to distinguish between providers and the lack of adequate guidance allows for undue risk of present, significant, and substantiated harms, the likely recommendation will be to enact an occupational license.

(5) If a lawful occupation is subject to the Nebraska Regulation of Health Professions Act, the analysis under subsection (4) of this section shall be made using the least restrictive method of regulation as set out in section 71-6222.

(6) In developing recommendations under this section, the committee shall review any report issued to the Legislature pursuant to the Nebraska Regulation of Health Professions Act, if applicable, and consider any findings or recommendations of such report related to the occupational regulations under review.

(7) If the committee finds that it is necessary to change occupational regulations, the committee shall recommend the least restrictive regulation consistent with the public interest and the policies in this section and section 84-946.
