PURPOSE

The Work Ethic Camp (WEC) was authorized by LB882, which was signed into law by then Governor Ben Nelson on June 10, 1997. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-4,147 requires that the Nebraska Department of Correctional Services (NDCS) provide an annual progress report to the Nebraska Legislature. The WEC began accepting probation offenders on April 10, 2001. On July 9, 2007, WEC began accepting inmates into the program due to the passage of LB83. Inmates transferred to WEC under this law are paroled pending successful completion of the WEC program. On August 30, 2009, LB274 was passed, giving the Director of NDCS discretion to place inmates at WEC. Inmates transferred to WEC under this law are promoted to community custody upon successful completion of the WEC program.

INTRODUCTION

The Work Ethic Camp was designed to reduce prison overcrowding and make prison bed space available for violent offenders. Originally designated as an incarceration work camp, NDCS changed the name in December of 1998 to more accurately reflect the programmatic emphasis of the facility. The mission of WEC is to provide an integrated program that combines evidence based practices with treatment and educational opportunities. The overall goal is to reduce the risk of recidivism through behavior change and to assist incarcerated individuals with successful community reintegration, thereby, keeping people safe.

It is the philosophy of WEC that behaviors and attitudes that reflect positive work ethic and behavior can be learned and transferred to other areas of an individual's life. WEC offers outpatient and intensive outpatient substance abuse programming along with work experience, education, cognitive restructuring, and life skills programs to enhance positive work ethic. Specifics regarding vocational, educational, and life skills offerings will be referenced later in the Programs section.

Historically, WEC was for male and female probation offenders who were referred by probation officers through the sentencing District Court, housing both intensive supervision probation offenders and minimum security NDCS male inmates. In April 2012 it was determined that female inmates would no longer be transferred to the WEC and would receive program offerings through other department avenues. The last female inmates housed at WEC were discharged in April 2013. The last probationer completed the program on July 30, 2015. To be assigned to WEC, offenders/inmates cannot have a history of sexual assaults or have certain Part I violent offenses on their records, and the offender must have been convicted as an adult of a felony offense. The facility does not accept referrals from juvenile courts or county courts in Nebraska. In early September 2019, LB 340 went into effect prohibiting courts from using WEC for placement of felony offenders as a condition of a sentence of intense supervised probation. Since September 2019, WEC houses only male inmates at the discretion of the Director of NDCS.

WEC currently has 200 beds and inmates housed at WEC are classified as minimum custody. Prior to placement at WEC, inmates are screened utilizing the STRONG-R assessment tool. This tool identifies each inmate's criminogenic needs to ensure that each case plan targets the specific needs of the inmate. Probation, parole, and NDCS have partnered to provide a seamless transition between each of these agencies. This partnership is critical to the success of this facility.

The length of stay for NDCS inmates varies depending on an inmate's sentence structure and parole eligibility date. Inmates who successfully complete WEC receive release on parole at their earliest parole eligibility date, release on their mandatory discharge date, or custody promotion to community corrections. Inmates who do not complete WEC successfully may be transferred to other NDCS institutions with their parole status determined by the Nebraska Parole Board, be demoted in custody to the appropriate level, or both. Case plans are developed for each individual based upon his identified needs. Inmates do not have access to cash while at the facility and tobacco products are prohibited. Only approved visitors are allowed to visit and may visit once per week. Phone calls are restricted to one hour per day.

REFERRALS, ADMISSIONS, AND DISCHARGES AT WEC

One of the issues referenced in previous annual reports has been the underutilization of the WEC. As illustrated in Table 1.0 - Number of Offenders/ Inmates at WEC, June 30th, Each Year Since 2001, from the time the facility opened in 2001 until November 5, 2008, the facility was below capacity, which at that time was 100 individuals.

As Table 1.0 indicates, legislative action and efforts by the department have increased the number of inmates at the WEC in the past several years. The increase in numbers after 2009 is due to the implementation of LB83, which allowed the placement of inmates at the WEC, and LB274, which expanded the population base to over 180.

As indicated in Table 1.1 - Number of Admissions per Year to the WEC - from April 30, 2001 through September 30, 2021, a total of 7,448 offenders/inmates have been admitted to the WEC.

PROGRAMS AT WEC

Employment

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-4,142 mandates that WEC provide regimented, structured, disciplined programming. Inmates are assigned to jobs at the facility or may apply to specific jobs. Inmates are paid for their work once per month, promoting independence and budgeting skills. They also receive feedback on their work performance each month from their job supervisors, which provides positive reinforcement for good work and/or suggestions for areas of improvement.

Work

Programs available at WEC include supervised work crews, in which inmates are taken to work for various government agencies throughout Southwest Nebraska. Those agencies and organizations include the Department of Transportation, Nebraska Game and Parks, county and city offices, and local schools. Inmates working in these areas receive pay for their daily work. WEC has also expanded the service of its work crews to include non-profit organizations; however, the inmates must volunteer for these jobs and they do not receive pay for volunteer work. Many inmate workers choose to participate in these rewarding volunteer opportunities. Examples of this type of work include loading and unloading trucks and sorting donated clothing to be distributed to other communities or shipped to third-world countries. The presence of WEC through its supervised work crews in Southwest Nebraska has significantly benefited the inmates as well as surrounding communities. Inmates have the opportunity to reenter their home communities from WEC with a practiced routine work schedule, experience in teamwork, and a positive work ethic.

Table 1.5 - Total Offender/Inmate Labor Hours at the Work Ethic Camp from April 30, 2001 to September 30, 2021 summarizes offender/inmate labor at WEC since the facility opened.

2020	8,722
2021	11,625
TOTAL	475,044

It should be noted that the total number of work hours in 2011 through 2021 were lower than in previous years. This is due to budget modifications, which reduced road crew corporal positions at WEC from eight to four. Additionally, total work hours do not include participation in non-profit organizations. During 2016, WEC was able to increase the road crew by two road crew corporal positions, bringing the number of team members to six. This has enabled the road crew inmate worker program to provide more work opportunities to inmates and better serve and support the surrounding communities. Due to the COVID-19 quarantine during 2020, road crews were not allowed to go out to work in the community. Hours for 2020 were changed to reflect the correct number of hours from the previous years report.

Other work opportunities for inmates at WEC include: maintenance, laundry/canteen, food service, porter positions, photographer, recreation, gardener, and barber. Food service staff complete the Serve-Safe Manager course and they routinely offer the Serve-Safe Food Handler certification for inmate food service workers. Many inmates re-entering society secure their first jobs in the food service industry. The experience, training, and certification WEC provides inmates can give them an edge over other applicants in the job market.

Special Detail

The Special Detail Program provides inmates with the opportunity to work either on-site or off-site with intermittent, at least hourly supervision. Special detail positions available on-site are in the kitchen and warehouse/canteen. Off-site detail positions are managed by the Road Crew Team. For an inmate to be eligible for the Special Detail Program, he must have minimal recent misconduct report history and have the support of his work supervisors based upon demonstrated work habits.

Education

The WEC Education Department is another main component of our program. The Adult Basic Education class assists inmates who are not high school graduates or who have deficits in educational abilities. Unless already established by another facility or agency, every inmate who enters the program undergoes testing to determine educational needs. Inmates who do not already have a diploma or GED, and are under 22 years of age, are required to attend Adult Basic Education classes to work toward improving academic skills and earning their diplomas or GEDs. WEC has two full time teachers who provide educational instruction to WEC inmates.

One of the goals of the Education Department is to help inmates earn their diplomas or GEDs, which enhances their employment potential upon re-entry to the community. For all inmates who receive educational instruction at WEC, increasing their educational competencies can improve their confidence, make them more employable, and help them to better understand contracts or other documents they sign. The Education Department can suggest options for continuing their education when they return to the community.

Substance Abuse Treatment

Each inmate is assessed and evaluated at the Diagnostic and Evaluation Center (DEC) for substance abuse treatment needs and appropriate level of care. Those with treatment needs enter the substance abuse treatment component of WEC, which includes substance abuse education, individual and group counseling, and attendance at self-help groups, facilitated by local volunteers. Approximately 50 percent of the inmates at WEC have been identified as needing substance abuse treatment.

The substance abuse program at WEC is an outpatient or intensive outpatient program. Inmates assessed as appropriate for substance abuse services are referred to the Substance Abuse Program for regularly scheduled sessions. An individualized treatment plan is completed on all inmates. The intensity of each person's treatment is based upon the level of need. These sessions, which include group, individual, and educational sessions, focus on the impact of substance use and abuse. The groups use a cognitive behavioral approach to substance use and abuse. Topics covered include the biomedical effects of drugs and alcohol on the body, general health risks, the effects of substance abuse on decision making, the effects of substance abuse on interpersonal relationships, and how addiction impacts choices and behaviors.

Cognitive Behavioral Non-Clinical Programming:

WEC programming includes the following:

Moral Reconciliation Therapy is a cognitive behavioral treatment system that leads to enhanced moral reasoning, better decision making, and more appropriate behavior. MRT is conducted in weekly groups, where clients present steps from their workbooks that have been completed as homework. Group facilitators use objective criteria to evaluate each participant's successful completion of the program's steps. There are 12 sessions in MRT, which are held once per week. MRT can generally be completed in 12 weeks.

Thinking for a Change is a cognitive behavioral curriculum developed by the National Institute of Corrections that concentrates on changing the criminogenic thinking of offenders. Thinking for a Change meets twice a week for twenty-five sessions and uses a combination of approaches to increase inmates' awareness of self and others. Class participation, written assignments, and role playing reinforce skills that are taught and demonstrated by class facilitators. This deepened attentiveness to attitudes, beliefs, and thinking patterns is combined with explicit teaching of interpersonal skills relevant to offenders' present and future needs. Thinking for a Change can generally be completed in 12 weeks.

Seven Habits is a program modeled after the principles presented in the book "7 Habits of Highly Effective People," by Dr. Stephen R. Covey, and is delivered in collaboration with the staff of the Franklin Covey Company. Franklin Covey's 10-12 week training course for inmates has been proven to be life-changing. Studies show that recidivism drops to as low as 8% and administrative violations drop by over 76% for graduates of the Seven Habits on the Inside. Once inmates believe that they can choose their path in life, they begin to make changes before they are released which can lead to a successful parole and reintegration into society. Classes meet twice a week for approximately twelve weeks.

Ancillary Programs

Inside Out Dads connects inmate fathers to their families. The goal is to improve behavior while still incarcerated and to break the cycle of recidivism by developing pro-fathering attitudes, knowledge, and skills, along with strategies to prepare for release. Participants get the tools they need to become more involved, responsible, and committed in the lives of their children, providing increased motivation for them to get out and stay out. This class meets once a week for seven weeks.

Within My Reach is a skills based program with critical, concrete tools that help participants control their own relationships in ways that will lead to more enriching, more satisfying interactions with the people who matter in their lives. Themes include: knowing yourself first, smart love, and making your own decisions. This group meets once a week for seven weeks.

Beyond Anger is a four week curriculum which helps clients in institutional settings and community corrections address anger, reconciliation, and emotion management, while providing guidelines for daily living. Role playing and testimonials by inmates help clients explore spouse and family issues, forgiveness, and letting go of the past. The program stresses how to take action, deal with feelings and make positive progress. Beyond Anger allows participants to identify sources of resentment and anger and develop strategies to move toward forgiveness and to reconcile and reestablish relationships or learn to move on when reconciliation is not possible. This class meets once a week for four weeks.

Illegal to Legal is a five session course that encourages entrepreneurship and motivates participants to recognize the skills that they had used to commit their crimes and transfer those skills into a legitimate, money-earning career and legal lifestyle. Lessons each incorporate a video workbook exercise, and a textbook to reinforce the provided information. Each lesson lasts approximately 75 minutes and participants meet once weekly.

C-Tech is a series of vocational courses taught in three distinct modules: Fiber Optics, Copper, and Telecommunications. Participants are taught interactively by use of instruction, Power Point presentation, textbooks and worksheets, and they also utilize Interactive Technology Boards to verify that the work they prepared would function properly. This course meets once weekly for two 2-hour sessions on-site, and is taught by two WEC staff members who are trained instructors. The maximum class size is limited to 10 participants. Those who pass the modules earn certification in those areas of skill. These course modules are excellent opportunities for participants to increase their vocational skills and employment options in the future.

ABC OSHA (Associated Builders & Contractors) classes provides 10 hours each of General Construction and General Industry instruction on the rights and responsibilities in maintaining a safe workplace while working productively. This grant-funded class is taught at WEC in a classroom by a contracted instructor. Each 10-hour class is accomplished in one week three afternoons in a row. ABC Construction Courses are also offered. ABC's theory is that each person who enters the construction industry is on the path to earning a competitive salary, learning a new skill, and building America with their own hands. The courses (Core Construction and Construction Math) provide classroom and practical application in construction. Under supervision of the instructor, participants will use approved tool sets to create small projects to present for grading and feedback. These grant-funded classes are also taught at the WEC in a classroom by a contracted instructor. Each course is a two- hour class, meeting twice a week for six weeks. Due to COVID restrictions, only two sessions of the 10 hour OSHA class were offered.

ABC Virtual Electric is a class where participants use virtual electric panels to learn basic electrical wiring. This class is taught twice a week for six weeks. Due to a lack of local instructors, this course was not available in 2021.

MPCC Access to Work Force

The Mid Plains Community College has obtained a grant to offer four courses to support inmates in their pursuit of gainful employment after re-entry. These courses include First Aid/CPR, OSHA Four Hazard, Fork Lift Certification, and CDL Preparation. Due to COVID, participation at Mid Plains Community College was temporarily suspended, but recently began again. Several additional courses are now offered including, Scissor Lift/Skid Loader, Basic AC/DC Electrical, and Essential Skills for the Workplace.

Incentive Program

One key goal at WEC is to create an environment that encourages positive change. Each inmate at the facility has the opportunity to earn rewards for positive behavior. The program has four categories: sanitation, citizenship, work/education, and behavior. Each inmate who meets the established criteria may earn increasing rewards depending upon the level achieved. There are four levels available: bronze, silver, gold, and platinum. The Incentive Program at WEC is currently being revised to modify the available rewards (to ensure they are meaningful and attainable).

Recreation

In the spring of 2010, a full-time recreation specialist was added to WEC staff. The benefit of this position is to aid in the positive use of free time, physical exercise, and development of positive social interaction. This is accomplished through organized sporting activities, board games, tournaments, and special activities on certain holidays. The recreation specialist has actively scheduled and supervised recreational activities. Yard equipment can be checked out and used by inmates at WEC on a daily basis and a large shade shelter was added on the yard for inmates as well as a handball court. The recreation specialist position is open at the time of this report, as the previous person recently resigned.

Library is offered daily for those who enjoy reading. WEC also utilizes interlibrary loans to offer a greater variety of reading material.

Religion

The religious library is offered at the same time and place as the recreational library. We have worked with religious volunteers to meet the needs of the expanding religious affiliations represented in the inmate population. Religious programs are provided for those inmates who wish to participate. Religious study groups (conducted by the inmates) are offered for groups that have no community volunteer associated with those religions.

Visiting

Visiting is scheduled on Saturdays and Sundays (based on inmates' last names) for inmates with approved visitors. Inmates may apply for special, emergency, or extended visits based on criteria established in policy and procedures. Inmates are provided with the general rules and dress codes which they may mail to their visitors ahead of time. WEC recognizes the value in maintaining and repairing family relationships, and its benefit in a successful re-entry to society. WEC staff recognize the distance that some families must travel to visit and have made efforts to make the visit experience more family-friendly. There are toys and games available for different age groups. Craft activities are also available. Due to COVID restrictions, there were months in 2021 that visits were not available, or were available with preventative precautions in place. A new opportunity is the option of a virtual visit. WEC is piloting a virtual visiting system, which has been well received, thus far. Visitors must reserve a visiting time ahead of time online.

INMATE DISCIPLINE ACTIVITY

There have been 413 releases from WEC during fiscal year 2021 (July 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021). Within that same time period, 98 inmates were removed prior to successfully completing the program. Individuals at WEC can be removed via two mechanisms. First, inmates can be removed if determined to be a threat to themselves or others, or if they threaten to escape. The second mechanism is through serious or repeated violations of WEC rules. As a result, they will be returned to the Diagnostic and Evaluation Center (DEC) and will be reclassified to a higher custody level. For success in the program, inmates must also demonstrate adequate institutional adjustment.

Inmates during fiscal year 2021 have been removed for the following reasons:

Reason for Removal	Number of Offender/Inmates
Unsuccessful Discharges	41
Medical/Mental Health	27
Request Protective Custody	18
Other	12
(Programming needs, new criminal charges, safety issues)
TOTAL	98

Removals from the program increased over the last fiscal year by a total of 39.8%. At the same time, total admissions for the last fiscal year decreased by a total of 18.4%. WEC staff continue to develop ways to effectively deal with disruptive behavior.

RELEASE TO PAROLE, PROBATION, OR PROMOTION TO NDCS COMMUNITY CORRECTIONS

Inmates who are transferred to WEC are assessed for their recommended clinical and non-clinical needs. All inmates are expected to work on their identified needs by taking the appropriate classes offered at WEC prior to their parole or transfer to other facilities. Inmates who have completed their recommended classes can be reclassified for transfer to community corrections if time allows, preceding their release dates. Inmates who earn serious misconduct reports may be transferred to other, more secure facilities. The Nebraska Board of Parole will be notified of such incidents for those who are pending parole.

COMMUNITY REINTEGRATION

NDCS inmates successfully discharged from WEC are either released on parole (to be supervised in the community by a parole officer), released to post release supervision (to be supervised in the community by a probation officer), or transferred to another NDCS facility (usually, community corrections in Omaha or Lincoln). Conditions of parole are set by the parole board and conditions of probation are set by the courts. WEC staff prepare parole guideline reports for inmates who are under consideration for parole. A STRONG-R is completed on all inmates at WEC, which establishes a level of risk as well as individual needs and assists in creating appropriate goals to reduce recidivism. Reentry staff work with inmates to plan for residence, employment, and other needs as they transition to life in the community. Navigational officers do the same for individuals who will be on probation. For inmates approaching a mandatory release date from WEC, reentry preparation and support become the focus. WEC staff and reentry specialists work with them to identify and address their needs and identify applicable resources within their target communities.

IMPACT ON PRISON COST

WEC cost approximately $4.86 million to build, has 98 appropriated staff, and the facility operates on a $7.606 million annual budget. The average daily population for WEC in fiscal year 2021 was 186.

The data in Table 1.6 - WEC Admissions July 2020 to June 2021 shows the number of inmates sentenced to the WEC per month during fiscal year 2021.

December 2020	44	June 2021	39
TOTAL			414

During the same time period, 413 offenders/inmates were released from WEC. As Table 1.7 - Work Ethic Camp Releases July 2020 to June 2021 shows, 76.3% or 315 inmates were released successfully.

Table 1.7 – Work Ethic Camp Releases July 2020 to June 2021

Release Type	Number	Percent
Successful	315	76.27
Program Failure	41	9.93
Medical/Mental Health	27	6.54
Request PC	18	4.36
Other	12	2.90
TOTAL	413	100

Table 1.7 also indicates that 41 inmates, or 9.93%, failed the program. Twenty seven inmates (6.54%) left the program for medical/mental health reasons, 18 inmates (4.36%) requested protective custody, and 12 inmates (2.90%) were removed from the program for other reasons.

Finally as seen in Table 1.8 Average Cost Savings to the State for Each Inmate Sentenced to the Work Ethic Camp, the basic concept behind the construction of the WEC continues to pay dividends for Nebraska.

Table 1.8 – Average Cost Savings to the State for Each Inmate Sentenced to the Work Ethic Camp

Fiscal Year 2021	Average Cost
Average Cost per Inmate in State Prison (Incarcerated)	$43,869
Average Cost per Inmate at WEC (Based on # of Admissions per Year)	$12,584
TOTAL COST SAVINGS PER INMATE	$31,285

Using the data from Table 1.8, and the average daily population at WEC of 186.1 inmates, WEC saved Nebraska taxpayers a total of $5,822,138 during FY 2021.

ISSUES

The number of probation offenders admitted to WEC has significantly decreased. In FY2011, probation offenders were 45.92% of the admissions to WEC. In FY 2012, they were 34.44% of the admissions. In FY 2013, probation offenders were 3.99% of the admissions. In FY 2014, probation offenders were .82% of the admissions. In FY 2015 probation offenders were .93% of WEC admissions. Since FY 2016 there have been no probation offenders admitted.

WEC continually explores new avenues to expand vocational and recreation opportunities for its population. Increasing both types of opportunities contributes greatly to the inmate's occupational opportunities upon release and to more constructive use of free time while at WEC.

WEC is in its 20th year of operation. Through the use of preventive maintenance, equipment and fixtures continue to remain in operation. However, the equipment and fixtures have reached their expected years of service. That is a situation which will continue to increase basic maintenance and/or replacement costs.

SUMMARY

The makeup of WEC has changed. Due to the implementation of LB 83, LB 274, and LB 340, the original concept is evolving. The focus and goal of WEC remains to reduce recidivism by providing quality programming.

WEC is a vital component in reintegrating offenders back into the community. It provides the structure and programs necessary for inmates to gain the tools to lead a law-abiding life and to establish and maintain steady and legal employment.
