LB31 creates an excise tax for dollars earned above certain amounts in relation to state income tax law, creates the Tax Equity Cash Fund and allows for transfers from the Tax Equity Cash Fund (TECF).

For single individuals, married filing separate, or estates and trusts, LB31 levies an excise tax of 9.5% on every dollar earned above $1,000,000, less the applicable individual income tax rate in sec. 77-2715.03 for such individuals with an income over $1,000,000.

For married filing jointly or head of household LB31 levies an excise tax of 9.5% on every dollar earned above $2,000,000, less the applicable individual income tax rate in sec. 77-2715.03 for such individuals with an income over $2,000,000.

The Department of Revenue is to collect the excise tax levied at least once per taxable year on a form and manner prescribed by the department for deposit into the TECF. The TECF may be used to defray administrative costs relating to the fund and may have its funds transferred to the General Fund, Education Future Fund, or Property Tax Credit Cash Fund.

LB31 does not describe the amounts to be transferred to the various funds, only that they may. It is our assumption that this will be handled during the biennial budget process.
